125 Years of
UNION CROSS MORAVIAN CHURCH HISTORY
Part II

The new sanctuary was dedicated on December 7, 1895 with Bishop Edward Rondthaler presiding.

Between 1895-1926, we were known as the Union Cross Mission. During this time, we welcomed many folks into the sanctuary doors for worship, Sunday School, and even the occasional revival.

We were also challenged by our Primitive Baptist neighbors over “the Moravian mode of baptism by pouring.” Eventually, the bitter opposition would give way “to a more friendly feeling.”

Our first interment in God’s Acre here at Union Cross was in April 1896, “when the remains of Sister Eliza Johnson were laid to rest.”

On Sunday, July 18, 1926, we were formally organized as Union Cross Moravian Church. “A very large congregation was gathered in the pleasant church, situated most conveniently on the great national highway between Winston-Salem and High Point, in a village where the roads coming from four directions crossed each other.”

The congregation had 40 members in 1926, all of them transferred with “full and cordial consent from Friedland.”

“The pastor, whom the new congregation dearly loves, is the Rev. F. Walter Grabs.”

In 1930, the Women’s Auxiliary Society (Women’s Fellowship) was created.

On August 15, 1948, ground was broken for a new sanctuary...
